

City Government at a Glance

The City of Midland conducts salary and benefits benchmarking to ensure it offers a competitive compensation program for recruiting and retaining high-quality employees. Public and private sector data is found in a variety of sources including the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the Michigan Municipal League, and Salary.com.

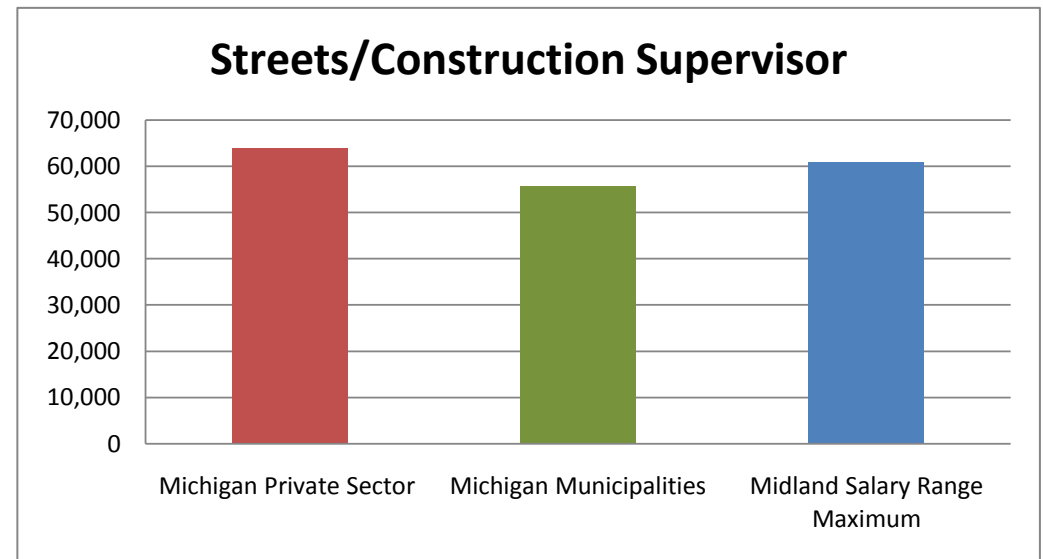

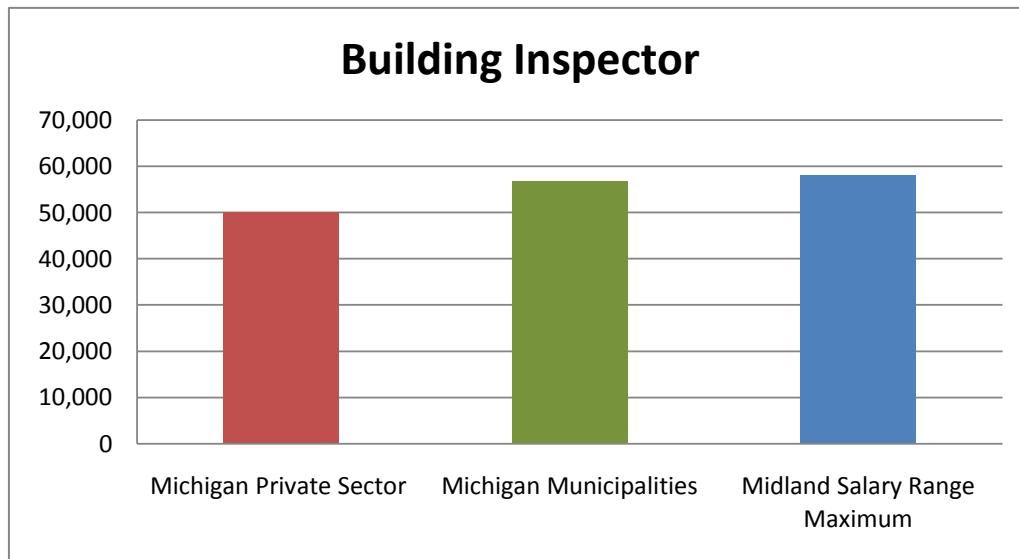

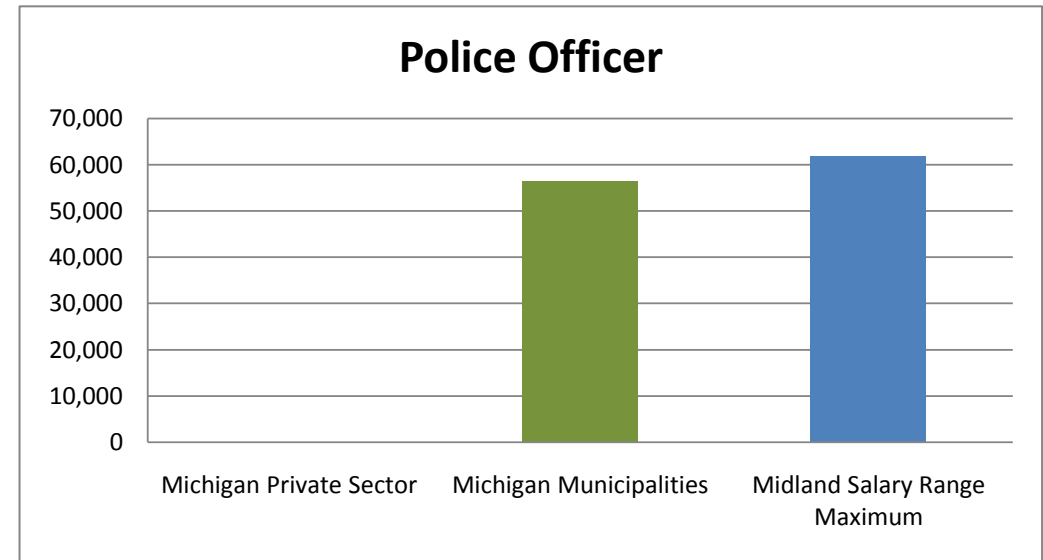

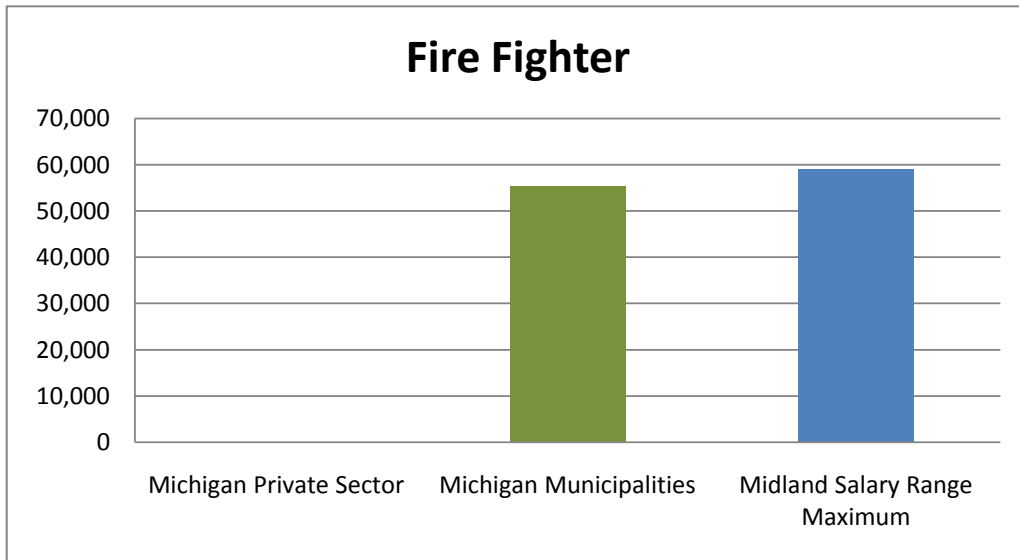

City officials also monitor this information to ensure your tax dollar resources are managed appropriately by verifying that the City employee total compensation program is appropriate and in line with local employers and the general marketplace.
