GIS

Midland's Geographic Information System (GIS)

NEW!

The City's new Geographic Information System (GIS) takes information – such as the locations of Midland's 70+ parks or the Tridge – and shows it in an easy-to-view graphical format on Internet-connected computers. Aerial photos show the entire city, and data is used to generate layers of information that can be placed on top of those photos.

With GIS, Midlanders can find out with a few clicks of a mouse if their property is in a floodplain, which Midland City Council member serves their particular neighborhood, or if their residence is near a park or school... to name just a few of the possibilities.

GIS is administered through the City's Information Services Department, 989-837-3364.
